

Your Cosmic Witch

A personal Halloween astrology report

Prepared for Rowan - fictional sample

Fictional demonstration with illustrative placements. Birth details are withheld; this is not a calculated chart for a real person.

Some witches would keep a kettle on the stove and a cat on the windowsill. Others would disappear into the woods with a notebook, collect unusual stones, or stay up far too late watching the moon. Your birth chart gives us a wonderful place to begin discovering which magical world feels like yours.

This little Halloween portrait explores your personality through witchy archetypes, the four elements and the symbolism of your Sun, Moon and Rising sign. Inside you will meet your main witch archetype, a supporting influence, your intuitive style, a symbolic animal familiar and a seasonal intention ritual.

The witch archetypes and familiar are imaginative symbols created for this report. The astrology gives us the ingredients; a little October imagination turns them into your own miniature book of magic. Enjoy it whether you practise witchcraft or simply love a cosy, mystical autumn.

Main archetype: Hearth Witch. Supporting influence: Green Witch.

Your Witchy Blend

The Hearth Witch

Your magic gathers around the hearth: a warm kitchen, a welcoming room, and the feeling that someone has thought about the little things. You may enjoy turning simple ingredients into something lovely or making a space feel cared for. A mug placed in someone's hands can be its own small ritual. Your witch's cottage smells of something delicious, and there is usually room at the table for one more.

The unexpected ingredient

Your Green Witch thread brings patience, practical creativity and a connection with the living world. It helps your other magical qualities grow into something you can actually tend.

The astrology behind your blend

Your Hearth Witch signature is supported by Moon in Cancer, Venus in Libra, Moon in house 4.

The Green Witch thread comes through Sun in Virgo, Mercury in Virgo, Sun in house 6. Together these ingredients give your portrait a personal mix of atmosphere and expression.

The selection gives most weight to your Sun, Moon and Rising sign, with your other personal planets, Jupiter, Saturn and Sun and Moon houses adding detail. It is a creative way to explore your natal chart through a Halloween story.

Your signature scene

Picture yourself in a cosy kitchen with herbs beside the stove, with a favourite mug close to hand. Tonight you have decided to make something comforting and share it with someone you love. There is a little Green Witch influence too: a smooth stone has found its way into the scene.

A question for your grimoire: What small thing do I already do that makes an ordinary day feel magical?

Your Sun Moon and Rising

The Sun describes your sense of self and creative expression. The Moon speaks to emotional needs and familiar comforts. The Rising sign describes how you tend to approach life and new situations.

Your Sun in Virgo

Your Virgo Sun brings the magic of thoughtful craft. You may see how to improve a recipe, arrange a beautiful little collection or turn a good idea into something that actually works. Your witch's shelves have handwritten labels and ingredients you know how to use. Enjoy a small project this October where your care makes a visible difference. There is pleasure in the making as well as the finished result.

Your Moon in Cancer

Your Cancer Moon may find comfort in familiarity, kindness and a space where you can let your guard soften. Your sanctuary holds little reminders of people and places that matter to you. A favourite meal or a quiet evening at home can become a lovely reset. Let your own needs have a place in the atmosphere you so thoughtfully create.

Your Rising sign in Aquarius

With Aquarius Rising, your doorway has something wonderfully individual about it. You may approach new situations with curiosity, independence and an eye for how things could work differently. Imagine a cottage with an unusual lamp, a clever invention and a surprisingly welcoming room inside. Your magical presence leaves space for people to be themselves.

Where your magic takes shape

Sun in house 6. Your Sun's house brings the magic into daily life. A thoughtful routine, a useful skill or a small handmade detail can make an ordinary day feel more personal and satisfying.

Intuition and Your Familiar

Your Earth element

Your featured element is Earth. You may notice what matters through small details, physical comfort and patterns that become clearer with time. Familiar routines and hands-on activity can make reflection easier. Begin your notebook with what you actually observed.

Mercury in Virgo gives your intuitive style a detail-aware, discerning quality. Small changes and repeated patterns may stand out to you. Record the specific observation before interpreting it; your careful noticing gives an impression useful context.

Try a small noticing practice this October. Write down an impression, a dream fragment or a moment that caught your attention. Later, return to it and see what you make of it. You are gathering your own language of symbols, one curious observation at a time.

Your symbolic familiar is the Cat

The cat represents independence, curiosity and the pleasure of choosing your own comfortable corner. It belongs beside your hearth because warmth and personal space can coexist. Imagine it reminding you to enjoy the comforts you create, rather than always being the person who provides them.

This animal is an imaginative companion chosen for your main witch archetype. You might sketch it in your journal or choose a picture to keep beside your seasonal arrangement.

Your autumn atmosphere

Your palette: sage green and warm cream. Your magical object: a favourite mug.

Venus in Libra enjoys proportion, colour and a sense of harmony. A balanced little arrangement or a favourite piece of art can make your space feel complete. Choose the combination that pleases your own eye.

A question for your grimoire: What small thing could I tend regularly and enjoy watching grow?

Your Halloween Ritual

Choose an intention for the coming season that feels close to your actual life: more creative time, a gentler evening routine, courage to try something, or a home that feels more like you. This little ritual gives it a place to begin.

Gather your ingredients

You will need paper, a pen, a small meaningful object and a lamp or battery candle. Your favourite mug could be your touchstone. Add a fallen leaf, a tiny pumpkin or another seasonal detail if you like.

Make a little space

Arrange your objects somewhere comfortable. Let the light mark the beginning of your quiet moment. Take a few easy breaths and notice the room around you. On your paper, finish this sentence: "This season, I welcome..."

Add your Earth element

Hold your meaningful object for a moment. Write one practical step beneath your intention and choose where it will fit into your week.

Give your intention somewhere to go

Write one small action you can take within the next seven days. Fold the paper and place your chosen object on top. Read your words quietly or aloud: "I make room for what matters to me. I begin with one small step." Keep the paper where you will see it again, and add the date when you take that step.

A little magic to carry with you

Your Hearth Witch has something lovely to enjoy this season: make something comforting and share it with someone you love. Choose one detail from your report and bring it into an ordinary day.

May your kettle be warm, your imagination lively, and your October full of lovely little discoveries. With a little moonlight, Angela - Chloe's Dream.
